25X1

25X1 [redacted] Provided Jay Sourwine, Senate Internal Security Subcommittee staff, with [redacted]

25X1 [redacted] I indicated that on the vases on which information was requested by Senator Eastland, it would in general be better for the Subcommittee to contact the FBI which is the Executive agency responsible in most of these cases. Sourwine did not quarrel with this but said he would appreciate anything which the Agency might have which would be helpful to the Subcommittee.

25X1 [redacted] Dr. Guthe telephoned indicating that Mr. Sheldon had advised of the possibility of a briefing of the Passman Subcommittee on shipping to Cuba. Dr. Guthe wished to obtain some of the previous AID testimony. After checking this, I informed Guthe that it was my understanding that the Director did not wish AID to discuss the sensitive aspects of this but that in fact no decision had been made that the Agency should brief the group. Consequently, he will await further word that Mr. Passman desires information on this subject.
